Company Philosophy

Audio Video Systems has been the trusted audio/video source for discerning clients since we opened our doors in 1977. Over the years, technology has changed, but our goal has remained the same: simplify whole house integration and provide the best customer service imaginable.
Adding to our staff of professional designers, engineers and installers, we've partnered with the best in the industry, Lutron Electronics, to put together a dedicated lighting control division. Our team of experts will help you create a system suited to your needs and personal style.
From lighting control to WiFi networking to whole home automation and home theater solutions, you can feel confident choosing AVS. We provide our clients with systems, service and support that far exceed expectations.
